

Health Policy Consultant

Do you have strong analytical skills and want to improve the health care system in Rhode Island? Faulkner Consulting Group (FCG) is searching for a smart, high energy Health Policy Consultant to join our Strategy team. The Health Policy Consultant will participate in client projects by developing quantitative and qualitative approaches for the completion of project deliverables. This includes but is not limited to framing the client's challenges; gathering data through interviews and secondary research; synthesizing and analyzing findings; and preparing/presenting recommendations.

The ideal candidate would possess a keen interest in health care reform and improving health care delivery. The candidate should be excited to track happenings in the health care space, both locally and nationally, as well as support teams that are helping to transform health care through project-based work.

Candidates should possess strong data analysis skills, with relevant experience and expertise in: research, health policy, business/health administration, and/or public health. An understanding of health reform would be helpful, and a passion to learn more about the field is highly desirable. The candidate should be self-motivated, detail oriented, highly responsive and able to work with minimal supervision.

Key Responsibilities

- Analysis: Work collaboratively with our client teams and internally to conduct analyses that answer complex business and healthcare questions; including:
  - Identify and develop optimal sources of data.
  - Develop the analytic approach for the completion of project deliverables.
  - Create and maintain financial models that support key analytic solutions for our clients.
- Research: Perform key policy research, identifying best practices, client benchmarks and program opportunities.
  - Gather and analyze quantitative and qualitative data from multiple sources, including but not limited to publicly available data on healthcare costs and trends, as well as proprietary data from organizational operations and financial metrics and stakeholder interviews.
  - Leverage multiple forms of research including internet-based search techniques, key informant interviews, and other methods as needed
  - Summarize, track, and document research done.
- Presentation: Prepare and present deliverables, including presentation materials, written summaries and reports, and dashboards for clients.
  - Write clear, compelling, easy to understand documents for executives.
  - Create presentations that summarize data in innovative and visually appealing ways.
  - Develop reports and dashboards to present data in ways that help senior leaders make data-driven policy decisions.

Qualifications

- MBS preferred or master's degree in Public Health, Public Policy, Data Analytics or equivalent.
- Exceptional analytic skills. Able to demonstrate clear and logical thinking. Comfortable with numbers and online data research.
- Strong written and oral communication skills. Ability to present quantitative data in a clear and concise fashion.
- Highly proficient in MS Word, Excel and PowerPoint.
- Experience with data/analytics software a plus (e.g. R, Stata, Salesforce, SPSS, SAS, RapidMiner, Tableau, Excel Pivot, Microsoft BI, others)
- Graphic design skills, i.e. ability to create visually appealing graphs, diagrams and time-lines a plus.
- Familiarity with the Affordable Care Act (ACA) or federal/state health insurance policy – a plus

Competencies

- Thrives in a fast paced, deadline driven, ever changing environment
- Strong analytical/research/problem solving skills
- Ability to work independently and efficiently, with little or no supervision and sometimes short notice.
- Ability to prioritize and handle multiple tasks/projects
- Proven ability to meet deadlines
- Positive “can do” attitude
- Organizational skills, with a strong attention to detail
- Mission driven and passionate about improving health care in Rhode Island
